

OLYMPUS NAMED VEHICLE OF THE YEAR AT PAWRS AWARDS

Dennis Eagle has received a prestigious award for its Olympus vehicle at this years' Plant and Waste Recycling Awards, part of the Plant and Waste Recycling Show, held earlier this month in Torquay.

Fighting off stiff competition from a number of other European manufacturers, Dennis Eagle's Olympus was named Waste and Recycling Vehicle of the Year 2010. Since its launch earlier this year, over 350 units have been sold in the UK and overseas and its popularity continues to grow.

Commenting on the award, Norman Thoday, Dennis Eagle's managing director said: "This is a great achievement and something the whole company should be proud of. The new Olympus incorporates key health and safety features coupled with excellent performance. Since its launch, the Olympus has proved to be a popular choice with both local authorities and waste management companies and we anticipate strong future sales for the unit."
